Qwest TV (qwest.tv) is a celebration of unique talents, traditions, and rhythms. With more than a thousand music-related experiences on offer, the video streaming service strives to be the world's home for jazz, soul, funk, world music, electronic, hip hop, r&b, folk, indie, rock and classical. Co-founded and curated by Quincy Jones, the channel preserves the richness of history, while reflecting the present-day beauty and reality of culturally and racially diverse people.

A WORD FROM OUR COFOUNDER

"Before the late, great Duke Ellington passed, we did the Duke Ellington...We Love You Madly TV Special (my first television credit as a producer) and my blessed brother, Duke, gave me a photo of him, signed, "To Q, who will de-categorize American music," and that's exactly what I've tried to do all of my life. Whether it was through the creation of my 1989 album, Back on the Block, a simmering musical stew of everything from jazz to world to hip-hop to swing music; to working with every genre under the sun; to most recently launching Qwest TV, a platform that provides listeners with a new and approachable way to discover the music that they were never formally introduced to. It's time to break down the barriers for any willing ear, and Qwest TV is here to help bring you to new uncharted musical territories!!

BREAKING DOWN MUSIC BARRIERS WITH 3 NEW LINEAR CHANNELS

"I was taught from the start that there is no singular approach to music. Our society has been indoctrinated to believe an inaccurate narrative that classical music is only for classical enthusiasts, or that world music only appeals to specific regions of our Earth, or that bebop is only for the older beboppin' jazz cats. Our music springs from the same roots, and they inform much of what we call mainstream music today." - Quincy Jones
